

Are you an employee or ex-employee of a financial services firm?

- a contractor or temporary worker, or
- if the firm or individual concerned is unauthorised but performing regulated financial services activity

Yes – You can speak to the whistleblowing team about regulatory wrongdoing in the workplace. The team may direct you to other organisations that could be interested in your information, or that offer support or advice.

No – Which of the options below best describes your relationship to the individuals or firm you want to contact us about?

1.

I am a - family member; friend; spouse or neighbour.

2.

I am reporting on behalf of my firm or organisation.

3.

I am a consumer or a shareholder with concerns.

4.

I am not sure. I would prefer not to say.

1. Due to your relationship with the person concerned, we understand that the information you have will need to be handled carefully. Please contact the whistleblowing team to discuss further.

2. If you are reporting on behalf of your firm, speak in confidence to our firm contact centre: Email: firm.queries@fca.org.uk
Call: 0300 500 0597 from the UK, or +44 207 066 1000 from abroad.

3. If you are a consumer or shareholder, speak in confidence to our consumer contact centre: Email: consumer.queries@fca.org.uk
Call: 0300 500 0597 from the UK, or +44 207 066 1000 from abroad.

4. Your status and circumstances could be complicated. We also understand that sometimes remaining anonymous is necessary. Please contact the whistleblowing team about your concerns.

It is important that you report to the area of the FCA that is best placed to review and act on the information appropriately.

Whistleblowing team – report via email to whistle@fca.org.uk or call us on 0207 066 9200.