

Memorandum of Understanding concerning consultation, cooperation and the exchange of information between ESMA and the UK Financial Conduct Authority

The UK Financial Conduct Authority (“UK Authority”) and the European Securities and Markets Authority (“ESMA”) have reached this Memorandum of Understanding (“MoU”) regarding arrangements for the cooperation and exchange of supervisory information related to certain regulated entities whose cross-border activities subject them to regulation and supervision by both the UK Authority and ESMA.

In light of the evolving regulatory landscape and the potential for future changes to the Authorities’ regulatory mandates and/or legal authority, this MoU envisages the use of Annexes regarding particular Covered Entities and Cross-Border Regulated Entities. Consequently, without limiting the Authorities’ abilities to cooperate or share information outside the terms of the MoU, this MoU itself encompasses consultation, cooperation and the exchange of information relating only to those Covered Entities or Cross-Border Regulated Entities (as appropriate) described in the relevant Annex(es).

Article 33(1) of Regulation (EU) No 1095/2010 of the European Parliament and of the Council¹ provides that ESMA may develop contacts and enter into administrative arrangements with regulatory supervisory authorities, international organisations and third-country administrations.

Section 354A of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 imposes a duty on the FCA to take such steps as it considers appropriate to co-operate with others who exercise functions similar to its own. This duty extends to authorities in the UK and overseas.

The UK Authority and ESMA express, through this MoU, their willingness to cooperate with each other in the interest of fulfilling their respective regulatory mandates by providing mutual assistance and exchanging information.

The Annexes do not limit the Authorities’ ability to cooperate under this MoU, consistent with each Authority’s Laws and Regulations, with regard to the supervision of other Covered Entities providing cross-border services that may come under their respective jurisdictions in the future.

Relevant provisions on Professional secrecy

UK AUTHORITY

Section 348(1) of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (FSMA) prevents the FCA from disclosing any 'confidential information' it receives except in certain circumstances as provided for under FSMA. Confidential information is defined in section 348 of FSMA broadly as any information which is not in the public domain, relating to the business or other affairs of any person, which was received by the FCA for the purposes of, or in the discharge of, its statutory functions (see section 348(2) of FSMA). Where the information has lawfully been made available to the public or is in the form of a collection or a summary so that it cannot be attributed to a particular firm or individual, that information is not confidential information (see section 348(4) of FSMA).

The restriction on the disclosure of confidential information under section 348 of FSMA does not apply where the person from whom the information was received (and, if different, the person to whom the information relates) has consented to the disclosure of the material.

Section 349 of FSMA allows HM Treasury to make regulations to permit the disclosure of confidential information in certain circumstances. The Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Disclosure of Confidential Information) Regulations 2001 (SI 2001 no. 2188) (the Disclosure Regulations) set out the circumstances in which disclosure may be made. Disclosure outside of the Gateway Regulations is a criminal offence.

Where ESMA, the competent authority or another authority, body or person communicating information consents thereto, the authority receiving the information may use it for other non-commercial purposes.
