

Effective competition provides firms with incentives to deliver what consumers want and provide value for money as efficiently and innovatively as possible

Well informed and engaged consumers can play a key role in driving effective competition between firms

